

Welcome to Week 8!

Week 8 is here. You have made it! Now is the time to reflect on the past eight weeks and the journey that you began to earn your degree. We hope that the Student Success Guides have helped you prepare. We are committed to helping you find resources to guide you through to graduation!

REWARD YOURSELF

As a student, we understand that you dedicate a lot of time and energy to your coursework, and we want you to reward yourself.

- Call your Student Success Partner and SA to brag about your achievement in making it through your first term!
- Treat yourself to a nice dinner at your favorite restaurant!
- Share your success with your family, friends and co-workers and see who else could benefit from starting or furthering their education with Grantham. Let us know how we can help.

CONNECT WITH GRANTHAM

Grantham University provides community resources via the GU blog and social media channels to assist you in fulfilling your academic and career goals. Connect with fellow students and GU alumni by following our online communities (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, YouTube, Google+) here:

GLife>News & Events tab> Online Communities channel

Grantham blog: blog.grantham.edu

The GU blog offers helpful resources to future and current students, and graduates who want to excel in the distance learning environment and thrive in a competitive workplace. Visit us every day for fresh posts, or you can request to have the blog emailed to you daily by visiting the blog link above and submitting your email address.

DID YOU KNOW?

You attend an award-winning school. We have been named a “Military Friendly School” by GI Jobs magazine and a Top Military-Friendly College and University by Military Advanced Education magazine multiple times. The University’s student support module received the Association of Private Sector Colleges and University’s (APSCU) Innovative Best Practice/New Program Award in 2011. Now that’s something to be proud of!
